

Sara Sanders is a single mother of three wonderful boys and currently serves as the Director of Programs at Along the Way, a non-profit organization providing free childcare for low-income single mothers and families. Her journey with Along the Way began as a beneficiary of the organization's services, which led to her employment as a Case Manager. Later, she was promoted to Lead Case Manager before stepping into her current role.

Sara's professional background is diverse and rich with experience. She has worked in educational settings with children who have intellectual disabilities, provided care in long-term care facilities and nursing homes, and managed a deli while waitressing early in her career. Additionally, Sara serves on the board of directors for the Keystone Opportunity Center in Souderton.

Advocating for under-resourced individuals and families is a core passion of Sara's. She strives to create opportunities and provide support to those who need it most, ensuring they have the resources and guidance to thrive.

Balancing professional life and family responsibilities as a working mom is a constant challenge for Sara, but it doesn't deter her from pursuing her goals. She is currently pursuing a bachelor's degree in General Psychology at Capella University, emphasizing her commitment to lifelong learning.

Outside of work and studies, Sara has a passion for photography, specializing in weddings, events, and family portraits. She finds joy in capturing special moments and creating lasting memories. She also enjoys astronomy and stargazing with her children. Nature and hiking are cherished hobbies that provide her with a peaceful escape and the opportunity to explore the outdoors.

Sara has lived in the Souderton community for most of her life and has built strong, lasting relationships there. Her deep roots in the community drive her dedication to making a positive impact wherever she can.
